15-Mile-Long Bomber Parade Attacks Berlin

By PHIL AULT
 Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press Limited.
 LONDON, March 6.—A 15-mile-long parade of American heavy bombers attacked Berlin for 30 minutes today and set great fires in the Nazi capital, after breaking through a German fighter screen that fought to save the city from its first mass daylight assault of the war.

Hundreds of bombers, accompanied by probably an equal number of long-range fighters, struck Berlin and preliminary reports indicated they had succeeded in unloading their cargoes of explosives in spite of the Luftwaffe's furious defence.

Nazi fighters availed themselves of the capital and fought them all the way in to the target, across the city and along the highway right.

VIOLENT ACK-ACK FIRE

Berlin's anti-aircraft batteries threw up a vicious curtain of fire, but the Nazi fighter pilots fought a hopeless battle all the way.

The raiders were caught clear weather and picked out their targets easily through a scattered cloud formation. At least 100 large areas of flame—each about one block square—were spreading through the city when the bombers turned away.

For Post-War Era

Building of Fire Station Is Recommended

The construction of a fire station at 101 street and south of 105 avenue is a post-war project, it is recommended in the annual report of Edmonton's fire department filed Monday with the city commissioners by Fire Chief James Macgregor.

The chief recommends also that the fire alarm system be enlarged to include many small areas of the city built up in recent years, and which do not adequate fire alarm boxes.

Another recommendation made is that sirens and siren signal be installed at 100 street and Jasper avenue similar to that now in operation at the Jasper avenue and 161 street intersection.

Chief Macgregor stated that bridge traffic on Jasper avenue eastward has been extremely heavy, and he suggested that a fire station be built east of 101 street to handle this traffic from the 104 street fire hall.

The report says that Edmonton again secured first place in the Canadian fire service.

Exchange Vessel

Gripsholm Sails With 711 Aboard

LISBON, March 6.—(AP)—The Swedish registration liner, Gripsholm, sailed from Lisbon at midnight with 711 passengers and crew and South American homeward bound from Germany, occupied countries and neutral Portugal.

They were exchanged for German nationals from the vessel.

Among the passengers were 28 American war wounded and 283 civilians. The remainder were German civilians, former German prisoners of war and the civilian.

Maj. Triquet Is V.C. Montreal Officer Second Canadian To Win Empire's Highest Award In This War

By WILLIAM STEWART
 LONDON, March 6.—(CP Cable)—Canada's second Victoria Cross of the war was awarded today to Maj. Paul Triquet of Montreal, 35-year-old company commander of the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Triquet earned the Empire's highest award for valor during the December battle of the Moro river in Italy. (The award was announced simultaneously by Defence Headquarters at Ottawa.)

Young Liberals Call Convention

OTTAWA, March 6.—(CP)—A national convention of Young Liberals, with an expected attendance of 500 young men and women, will be held in Winnipeg, May 29 and 30. It was announced at the head office of the National Liberal Party today.

One of the purposes of the meeting will be to draw up a new constitution to replace that of the 20th Century Liberal Association which will go out of existence with the convention and be replaced by a new organization.

A convention committee, on which all provinces will be represented, is being set up and the Junior Progressive Association is in charge of arrangements at Winnipeg.

War Duty Pay For Mounties

OTTAWA, March 6.—(CP)—Police Minister St. Laurent announced today in the commons that special war duty pay will be given Royal Canadian Mounted Police members for one year in addition to existing pay on charge d'affaires. General Borden has announced a 50-cent increase in the pay of 11,254 men for officers, privates and 50 cents for special constables guards.

84 Firemen Battle Spectacular Blaze For Nearly 5 Hours

By GRAHAM BARKER
 Flames, which caused a loss of approximately $100,000, completely destroyed the Blowey-Henry furniture warehouse, Thornton Court, in a general alarm fire early Sunday evening.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, was said to have started on the fifth floor of the six-storey structure, two floors of which are beneath the ground.

The spectacular fire, battled by 84 city firemen for almost five hours, ended with the "all-out" signal at 11:15 p.m., but constant watch kept throughout the night, with fire-fighters keeping a line or two of hose in readiness. Glow from embers could be seen throughout the night.

The fire, said Chief James Macgregor, was out of control before firemen reached the scene. Having broken out on the south side of the building, he said, people north of the river had no view, nor knowledge, of the blaze, until it had gained considerable foothold. The call was stated to have come from the South Side, but its source could not be traced.

Merchandise Loss Exceeds $40,000

Merchandise in the building owned by the Blowey-Henry Company was valued between $40,000 and $50,000, while other packed goods, owned by Henry, Graham and Reid Limited, 9505 Jasper avenue, was valued at upwards of $10,000. The building was valued at between $30,000 and $40,000, all of which was covered by insurance. Fred P. Newson, 9827 107 street, manager, Blowey-Henry Limited, stated.

First alarm was sounded at 6:16 p.m., with a second sounding four minutes later. At 6:23 p.m., a general alarm was turned in.

Scrambling fire trucks from various points about the city arrived persons "at for a stroll and they hurried to the scene of the blaze. Hundreds of others, on their way to church, stopped to watch the battle with the flames, and remained until darkness descended.

Upwards of $10,000 worth of household furniture, stored in the warehouse by Henry, Graham and Reid Limited, 9505 Jasper avenue, was destroyed, an official of the company stated. The loss is covered by insurance. Only furniture was stored by this company, which rented warehouse space. It was located on a crowded, estimated at over 5,000 continued on Page 2, Col. 1

One Plane Lost

LONDON, March 6.—(CP)—Weekend operations of the R.C.A.F. in the Atlantic Spitfire lost Saturday escorting United States bombers in an attack on the German coast. The Spitfire was shot down by the Russians were advancing in violent fighting below Shepetovsk to the west, where Moscow announced a loss of 12 Nazi divisions.

The communists reported powerful Soviet attacks all around the exposed Ukrainian bulge, with a virtually unbroken assault on a broad front completed by a strong offensive yesterday northwest of Kiev.

Massed Soviet tank and infantry forces swung over to the offensive above Kiev, the Nazis said.

New "Busters" Rock Aircraft High in Sky

LONDON, March 6.—(CP)—The blast from Britain's new "super-bomb" is so great that it rocks an aircraft several hundred feet in the sky, an R.A.F. pilot related yesterday. He has his experience after dropping one on the German engine works at Limoges, Pels.

Even at the height of many thousands of feet the blast is sufficient to rock aircraft, he said. "The whole sky is lit up and though you have created a new sun. The blast seems to be a concentrated attack of a number of aircraft with the small type bombs we used in the early days of the war."

Loss of $100,000 Is Caused by Warehouse Fire persons, surged and killed for several blocks around the city, climbing on roofs of surrounding buildings for a better view of the conflagration, windows of nearby buildings were other points of vantage, while on the west side of the river, and beyond the Low level bridge, motor cars and taxicabs formed solid masses of spectators.

TRANSPORT TIED UP

City transportation was at a standstill, with buses and taxis being held up by strings of horse and other fire equipment on Jasper avenue from 99 to 100 streets, south to Thornton Court, almost from the time the first equipment arrived on the scene.

Fourteen lines of hose played on the flames that leaped a hundred feet into the air, and great billows of black smoke to roll upwards 10 times that height.

SOON MONSTER PYRE

As the flames fed by stored furniture, floor coverings and other furnishings, dropped lower within the building, the whole structure, above the main floor, became monster pyre, visible through the burning windows and bulging walls.

It appeared, for a time, that the flames would be kept under control before they reached the main floor, and firemen were able to make their way into the building from the north entrance.

But almost simultaneously, at the south end, the flames suddenly finished eating through the roof level, and the fire rushed into the goods stored on the main floor. In a matter of minutes, the fire, which was very massy, Water, spraying from hoses being aimed at the flames, and the Graham and Reid Limited building, together with that from seven other fire trucks, was directed on the main floor, flooding the streets with more and more water. The crowd was obliged to move back in order to remain outside the burning area.

ERECTED IN 1907

The Blovesy Henry Limited building was erected in 1907 and was made of wood.

On the ground floor, according to the owner, manager, there were linoleums and other floor coverings. The fourth floor, used as a warehouse, was filled with carpets, rugs, and window shades. The fifth floor, where the floors held dining-room suites and case goods.

The ground floor was used as a store room for the Dominion grocery store, and measures department.

It was learned that employees had been in the building at 5 p.m. Saturday, while Mr. Newton left about an hour or so before the fire broke out. It was learned in the building about 2 p.m. Saturday, was the last person who reportedly said that everything was in order at the time the fire broke out.

As dense smoke driven back toward the building, and flames again forced back from the north entrance, the fire was concentrated on the west end. Within a few minutes, a veritable forest of water was cascading down the hill into the valley, driving most spectators from their points of vantage.

More than two hours after the fire started, tired and chilled firemen were given brief respite, with coffee, doughnuts and cigarettes, provided by the American Red Cross, through the courtesy of C. A. Jacob, field director, American Red Cross recreation centre.

Hugh T. Henry, club program director of the Red Cross, was kept busy during the night, serving drinks at the rear of the Northwest Tent and sewing company, while premises were made available through the kindness of E. J. Smith, president of the American Red Cross.

Heads Recruiting Britain Faces Grave Threat In Coal Strike

The slowdown began Monday, March 5, at the coal mines around the city, adding another grave threat to fuel production in the country. The strike was led by an unofficial "wildcat" strike by thousands of other men.

The big Monmouthshire without coal from the south-eastern coalfield, which is the only one of the kind in the country, was the only one of the kind in the country.

In a letter, directed by the miners, headed by Mr. George Lloyd George, directed the transfer of 40 miners from the Glamorgan Colliery Company's pits in Durham to join the strike.

CSM, WOB, B. J. Barnes, who is in charge of recruiting for the Canadian Army in the Edmonton area, CSM, Barnes, was placed in charge of recruiting for the Canadian Army in the Edmonton area.

Within 25 Years Germans, Sure War Lost, Now Preparing for Next

The German general staff now is so convinced that Germany has lost the war that it already is planning another war within 25 years in which the United States will be the principal opponent, according to the French underground newspaper "Combat" as quoted in the London Sunday Chronicle.

A general staff memorandum for the German general staff, dated March 1, 1934, stated that the general staff by Gen. Otto Von Stuepelung, military governor of France and before 1933 chief of the German general staff, the paper reported.

"Combat," printed at Algiers, presented this supposed excerpt from a memorandum by Gen. Otto Von Stuepelung, military governor of France and before 1933 chief of the German general staff, the paper reported.

"We must be prepared for the next war, we will wear out our enemies by our tactics in negotiation and in the propaganda campaign appealing to the humanitarian sentiments and sympathy of the world."

Germany confused the principal adversary with the subsidiary adversary—because she wanted to avoid a direct confrontation with herself from the beginning of 1934, against England with all her available force.

"In the next world war, which should take place within 25 years, the principal adversary will be the United States and the entire world will be forced to defend this country from the beginning."

"We shall be wrong if we try to conquer Russia while leaving intact American industrial production."

The DNB news agency said that at the German general staff were being "bought all the way from the Baltic Sea to the Black Sea near Berlin. The 'strongest' force of German fighters rose to challenge the raiders, DNB said, and hundreds of anti-aircraft batteries laid an anti-aircraft fire all across Germany."

The alert sounded in Berlin shortly before 10 p.m. DNB added that "numerous planes are reported crashing" apparently in the vicinity of the city.

SET DIRECT COURSE
"The North American planes set a direct course for Berlin," the agency said. "German defenses had expected the attack. The bombers flew in close formations, probably in the vicinity of the city."

Air leaders have been awaiting the time when American bombers could reach Berlin at daylight and single out targets which R.A.F. and Canadian night fighters were hunting.

"he had compassion on him"

But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was; and when he saw him, he had compassion on him, and went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him.

Luke 10: 33-34

Two thousand years ago, on the dangerous highway between Jerusalem and Jericho, the Good Samaritan cared for a broken stranger, and through this simple kindness, taught the world a lesson in common humanity that has endured through the ages.

On mutilated battlefields, in prison camps and hospitals, in pillaged lands and hungry homes, the Red Cross carries on the work of the Good Samaritan.

More than charitable, more than great-hearted, the Red Cross is the conscience of a Christian world . . . the still small voice that turns the tide against a flood of darkness and torment . . . the valiant, deathless symbol of man's humanity to man. In every tortured corner of the world its touch spells hope and succor, its name an answered prayer.

To-day the Red Cross asks our help. Its mercy shall be our mercy and its hands do our work.

Give now . . . give generously . . . we cannot and we must not fail!

Catherine Wicks, nutritionist, says, "every single item of the seven basic foods (from bread or cereal right straight through milk, vegetables, fruits, meat or meat substitute, and butter), should appear in the child's daily lunch whether served at home or at school."

LUNCH MENUS

For example, Type A luncheon must be a complete lunch providing 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 day's nutritive requirements. For children 10 to 12 years, here are the specific requirements:

One-half pint of fresh whole milk as a beverage; 2 ounces serving meat or fish—or 1 egg—or 2 ounces cheese—or 1/4 cup (cooked) meat; dry peas, beans, soy-beans—or 4 tablespoons peanut butter; 1 cup vegetables or fruit—or 1/2 cup each; 1 or more slices enriched bread—or whole grain or enriched hot bread; 2 teaspoons butter. Such a luncheon menu could be:

Lunch menu No. 1: Rice, casserole or salad (combining 2 and 3 above), milk, bread, butter.

Lunch menu No. 2: Sandwiches (of high nutrition—covering items 2 and 3), soup, 2 vegetables, 1/2 cup soup, 1 vegetable and 1 fruit, milk.

Lunch menu No. 3: Plate lunch consisting of meat, eggs or cheese (item 2), with vegetables or fruit (item 3), milk, bread, butter.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Stewed prunes, oatmeal, milk and sugar, crisp bacon, enriched toast, butter, coffee.

Lunch: Lamb stew with vegetables, whole wheat bread, butter, cut-up fruit, coffee (for adults).

Dinner: Scalloped fish, parsley potatoes, 7-minute cabbage, rare roast beef, enriched bread, butter, fresh orange and grapefruit gelatin, lemon custard sauce, coffee, milk.

Good Night, Sweet Prince

Papa put on such a stimulating performance the children had to cheer.

John Barrymore, as a child, was less than prepossessing. He seemed as slim and pale as a church spire, and wore black bangs, and looked like a Siamese cat. Papa, certainly, had nothing about him to indicate he would grow up to be an Apollo in the days when the Drew-Barrymore clan occupied a cavernous house in Philadelphia known as "The Tomb of the Capulets."

To this rebelling mother, the child's punishment of a lambent smile, Papa Maurice, played part in the child's life. Though a popular leading man, Papa was not entirely in the good graces of Louise Lane, "Mum Min" to her grandchildren and "Mama" to Papa.

When Papa did come home, he dearly loved to draw: copyright 1944 by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Text copyright 1944 and 1945 by Gene Fowler. Published by The Viking Press.

waken the children in their attic bed room for suppers of smuggled food—in violation of Mrs. Drew's orders. He would tell stories of India and the boys considered his renunciation of the singe of Fort Agis his masterpiece.

Papa acted out the Sepoy Mutiny, playing the parts of both armies. Though sworn to silence, the children trembled excitedly. One night, Papa put on such a stimulating performance the children could hold it no longer. They began to jump up and down on the bed. They cheered. The actor, for fear of habit, took a horse. Then the worst happened. Mrs. Drew advanced on them. "Will you be quiet, you four cubs in the morning the best time to scare the children!"

"I was only giving them a soothing bedtime story," said Papa. "I like to give you something," said Mrs. Drew. "A touch of intelligence, perhaps. The battle is over."

seems to have eliminated herself. It is up to you to decide whether you want to keep him or leave him. But my advice to you is that, inasmuch as you seem to be as emotionally unstable as your husband, to let the divorce matter ride for the present. Also, find out whether the sailor means business, or is merely passing the time with you.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Epidemic of Wartime Divorces Hits World

Hurry-Up Marriages of Servicemen and Girls on Short Acquaintance Usually Ends With Such Unions Stranded on Rocks of Divorce

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 20 and married to a boy a year older than I am. We were terribly in love and for four months we lived in a Paradise for two. Then he was sent overseas. Now he has written to say that he has met a girl in Scotland with whom he is madly in love and he wants my consent for a divorce. Shall I give it to him?

Answer: Play it true. Write your husband that if, after the duration of the war, he still loves her, he still loves her. He does you that, you will give him a divorce, but that you want him to be very sure of his feelings for his own sake and the girl's sake, as well as your own. Before you break up your marriage.

Learn from the number of letters I get from servicemen who write me that they have discovered that they have fallen out of love with their wives and in love with some girl they have met at camp. The yen for divorces seems to be sweeping our armed forces like an epidemic. This is not to be wondered at. It is the natural sequence of the hurried war marriages in which boys and girls rushed into marriage after an acquaintance of only a few days, sometimes only a few hours, and without any knowledge of each other's character or habits or previous lives.

No enduring affection could be built upon such a flimsy foundation, for the love that lasts has to be rooted on something deeper than a passing fancy, or a few highballs.

Minute Make-Ups

If you have a square face, never pull the hair back at the temples. Never wear tight curls at the sides. Never wear your rouge directly in the centre of your cheeks. Never let the eyebrows be in a thin, disappearing line. Never try for a cupid's bow mouth. All softness and natural effects if you are On the Square!

Easy to Crochet

By ALICE BROOKS 7601

Something different in crocheting—this lazy pattern, reminiscent of the carved ivory fans which once graced our hallrooms. Even a beginner can crochet it and of inexpensive cotton. Mrs. J. L. knows this only too well for she admits she made a big mistake when she gave her little girl a pacifier. "She is now 16 months old and I am having trouble getting her to give up this habit. She wants the pacifier when she goes to bed either daytime or night and if she wakens in the night she wants it. I have no trouble with her in any other way but this. It would thank you a million times if you could suggest a way to wean her from this habit."

There are no specific ways. You could be brutal and take it away and not give it to her again. That seems too harsh and too unnecessary. This has been a long time habit and it may have to dwindle away rather than be ended rudely. Sometimes a change of scene in which the child no longer has the pacifier will work the miracle. One child who was the victim of sucking on a cloth, acquired in babyhood, was two years old and still devoted to his "soft rag". His own name for it, by the way. When his family took him on a vacation trip, he pointedly forgot to take any clean rags of "sniffing". Since he was enough to understand he took it for granted there was none where he was going. By the time he returned in a week he had forgotten—except at times—to whine for his rag. Needless to say he didn't get it.

It is unpractical of heart and rectitude of conduct. I say that in addition to a good character a gentleman also includes good manners, good grooming, good appearance, good laise and cleanliness.

A gentleman is a gentleman who is pure of heart and upright in conduct, but while a diamond is a diamond, no matter how rough it is, it is all the more valuable when it is polished.

Actor Out of This World

Reggie Gardiner Just "Ectoplasm" In Role of Hamlet's Ghost

Reginald Gardiner, handsome, wispy-moustached, English-born Hollywood screen star of such recent hits as "Claudia" and "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" once had a role that was not of this earth. He was just "ectoplasm" in a role of his pictures. That's when he played Hamlet's ghost in a screen portrayal of the great Shakespearean play.

New Post

Gardiner made this revelation in an interview with the press, following his arrival in Edmonton with other members of the Hollywood troupe that is touring Allied military establishments in the Northwest.

Kay Francis, brunette siren of the motion picture world, and Marsha Hunt, youthful Hollywood star, with stage and concert stars of Hollywood and New York, are in the party which will stage a show for Allied service members in the arena at 3:30 p.m. Monday night.

CULTURED, WITTY

Courteous, cultured and witty, Gardiner, who is currently under contract to 20th Century Fox, exhibits the same penetrating humor that makes him a prime favorite of the press. He is a charming and himself and his work just no good at anything about him.

Asked if acting had family roots among the Gardiners, he replied: "Oh dear no, it's the only thing I do. I'm the only actor in the whole line. Ours is the 'stage family'."

Gardiner was born in Wimbledon, England, and started out as an architect after leaving school.

"I spent one whole year drawing pictures of plumbing," he later told him. "I had to draw a bathtub. I was an architect and started his career on the stage in England. He also acted in the movies in the U.S. He came to America for the first time in 1935."

He made one trip home to England, taking the trip home, Queen Mary, and the first crew member crossing after her maiden voyage to New York.

His mother and a sister live in England.

"I'm a British subject," Reggie told him. "I was engaged to the situation when the Hollywood troupe crossed the Atlantic. I was engaged to a girl in England."

Funeral Is Held Of Joyce Hepburn

Funeral service for Mary Joyce Hepburn, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hepburn, who was killed in a flying accident March 1, was held from Foster and McGraw's funeral chapel Saturday at 2 p.m. The service was largely attended.

The New C. K. A. Pook who officiated at the service, spoke on "The Life of a Heroine." He said that God's greatest revelation comes at the end. "The life of a hero is revealed in the end. It was only completed in the end. Among our individual friends, we know them through life but only get a proper conception of them at the true vision of what they really were and meant to us all," he said.

Many floral tributes banded the funeral of the actress.

Funeral services were given by her parents and sister, Dorothy Dean, and one brother, Donald Waters.

Pollbearers were L. B. Beatty, Donald J. Foster, J. H. McRae, W. Law and E. A. Kinch.

Entombment was in the Edmonton mausoleum. Foster and Kinch gave funeral chapel was in charge of arrangements.

Russian Girl, 20, Is New War Hero

MOSCOW, March 6.—(AP)—Masha Stenobova, 20-year-old, Russian, who fought on in battle despite wounds and injuries, has been named a heroine of the Soviet Union. The black-eyed girl from Kukskhaton joined the army as a volunteer in 1942, and asked for machine-gun duty.

She was wounded in the chest and arm, but she kept fighting. She was awarded the Order of the Patriotic War for her bravery.

She is now recovering in a hospital in Moscow.
